Description: Does your child struggle when it comes to successfully organizing and managing materials, assignments, and time? Do they struggle with effective studying and test-taking strategies? Maybe their grades don't reflect how bright you know they really are? Students are overloaded with transitions! They move from home to school, from locker to class, class to locker, lunch, back to locker, to class, and home again, not to mention all of the after-school and extra-curricular activities and homework! Trying to manage all of this can be overwhelming.

The key to successful organizing and learning strategies is to have simple tools and strategies; simple meaning the fewest number of steps possible. This 2-day bootcamp will help your child develop effective skills for all subject areas to support successful learning outcomes in school and beyond! Your child will walk away with a specially organized binder and home file system that can be used to manage all of their classes this coming school year, as well as a workbook which can be used at home to continue learning.
